Officer of the 2nd Quarter

Officer Scott Cole helped save a woman's life on March 24, 2010. State Park Rangers requested assistance from the Fairfax County Police Department at the Mason Neck Wildlife Refuge. A car was parked there for several days and the owner could not be found.

Officer Cole was concerned and spent the remainder of the day attempting to find her. Police conducted a coordinated search of Mason Neck Wildlife Refuge and Mason Neck State Park. The woman was subsequently located deep in the woods. She was weak and could not walk on her own. PFC Cole helped carry her to a path and transported her to nearby rescue units. She suffered from dehydration and hypothermia but received medical treatment.
